COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

TUESDAY EVENING, DEC. 3RD, 1878.

WE are fast approaching the end of the year, but business still shows but slight signs of improvement, and day by day drags on in the same dull manner which usually characterises the monsoon.

The reports on the markets in yesterday's home telegrams are simply a repetition of those of the day before, and they again were almost identical with those of the day previously. Cotton dull, Piece Goods dull, Seeds dull, and other markets unchanged. Wheat is reported to be firm, but this is the only article in which there is any improvement, and the sooner it relapses into its former state of dulness the better, as with trade in it's present state, the very worst thing that could happen would be a rise in the price of breadstuffs; of this, however, we do not think there is much fear as supplies from America are enormous.

Consols, yesterday closed at a decline of ⅛, being quoted at 96. French Rentes had advanced from 112½ to 112¾. Enfaced Rupee Paper is still quoted at Rs. 75½ for Fours and Rs. 80¾ for Fours-and-a half.

Bar Silver remains at 50 11-16d. per oz.

In the London General Produce Markets Coffee is unchanged. Cocoanut Oil has given way £2 per ton, being now quoted at £46 for Ceylon and £52 for Cochin. Both Linseed and Rapeseed are described as dull, the quotation for the former having given way 6d. and 9d. per quarter in Calcutta descriptions to arrive and ex-warehouse, and Bombay 1s. Calcutta Rapeseed has declined 6d, but Bombay is unchanged at 44s. 6d. per quarter. Wheat is 1s. to 2s. per quarter higher.

EXCHANGE opened quiet this morning at yesterday's rates, which have been maintained throughout the day. For forward Bills the Banks are buyers at about our last quotations and are sellers of Demand Drafts for January at 1s. 7¼d. and Telegraphic at 1s. 7 7-16d. The failure is reported to-day of a German firm of some standing in Shanghai, but the failure will not, we believe, effect Bombay in any way. Our closing quotations are :—

Bank Bills, on demand		1s. 7 7-16d.	per Rs.
Do.	6 months' sight	1s. 8d.	,,
Credits,	3 ,, ,,	1s. 7¾d.	,,
Documents,	3 ,, ,,	1s. 7 15-16d.	,,
Francs,	3 ,, ,,	2-10¾.	,,

On Calcutta the rate for demand drafts keeps firm at 100 3-16. There is no change in 60 days' sight Bills which remain at 99½.

GOVERNMENT PAPER is weak at Rs. 94½ for Fours and Fours-and-a-half, and Rs. 99¼ for new Four-and-a half per cent. Loan.

SHARES.—Bank shares keep steady, the only alteration in quotations is a decline of Re. 1 in Nationals. In Land Companies Colabas have given way Rs. 10. In Press Companies, Carwars are now nominally quoted at Rs. 100 per share. In Spinning and Weaving Companies Alexandras have declined Rs. 15, Bombay United Rs. 5, Colabas Rs. 20, Dhurumsey's Rs. 5, Great Easterns Rs. 10, Manockjee Petits Rs. 20, Morarjees Rs. 10 and Nurseys Rs. 15. Miscellaneous shares are unchanged.

For PIECE GOODS there is possibly rather more enquiry, but the improvement so far is very slight and the up-country demand continuous very slack.

COTTON.—The market is in the same state of depression. A few small lots of New Oomrawuttee have arrived to class Good Fair, for which Rs. 185 per candy is asked without finding buyers. Of old Cotton the Mills are still almost the only buyers. Quotations are almost unchanged, viz. :—

Old Oomrawuttee Good Fair	Rs. 184	Ready.
,, ,, F. G. F.	189	,,
,, Dholleras G. F.	184	,,
,, ,, F. F.	180	,,
,, ,, Fair	175	,,
,, S. G. Dharwar G. F.	185	,,
New Oomrawuttee G. (Jan. dely)	185	,,
,, M. G. Broach ,, ,,	195
,, Hingunghaut ,, ,,	205
,, Dholleras ,, (April dely)	185

LINSEED remains quiet with few buyers for ready parcels at Rs. 6-7 to Rs. 6-8 per cwt. Of new there are no longer sellers for March-April delivery below Rs. 6-2 per cwt.

RAPESEED is dull of sale at Rs. 7-4 per cwt. for ready Guzerat with no sellers of new seed, although the crop is expected to be a bountiful one.

FREIGHTS were somewhat steadier; but the steamer Trinacria has been transferred to the Liverpool berth and this will probably weaken the Market again for that port: the nominal rate for Cotton is 15s. per ton. For Marseilles the rate is 25s. per ton.

COALS unchanged.

As was remarked by Sir Charles Sargent, the presiding Judge at the Criminal Sessions of the High Court, there probably never was a case of murder before a British Court of Justice tried merely on the depositions, like the case of Dossjee Goolam Hoosein, who was indicted yesterday on a charge of murdering his mother-in-law at Zanzibar on the 9th June last. The depositions in the case were taken by Mr. Kirk, British Consul; and were sent up to the High Court with the prisoner, but without any one of the witnesses, for the reason that the Consul has no power to compel their attendance here. After some discussion, Mr. Gill, the prisoner's counsel, attorned to the Court's jurisdiction, but argued that the Consul, in taking the depositions in a murder case, had clearly exceeded his authority, and that the depositions were therefore inadmissible on this among other grounds. His Lordship held that, under the order of Council dated 9th August 1866, which was passed under the authority of 6 and 7 Vict., it was lawful for the Consul to take cognizance of any crime committed within his jurisdiction, and to send up any case to the Bombay High Court that he thought proper. He had no power to send up the witnesses; but under section 33 of the Indian Evidence Act, the depositions taken by him and sent up to this Court were admissible on the ground that, in the Court's opinion, the delay and expense in getting the witnesses to Bombay would be "unreasonable." His Lordship therefore allowed the depositions to go to the jury, remarking that the effect to be given to them was quite another question. The jury considered the case against the prisoner, resting as it did merely on depositions, to be unsatisfactory; and a verdict of not guilty being returned, the prisoner was discharged.

HER MAJESTY'S gun boat Vulture, 774 tons, Commander J. Eliot Pringle, arrived in Bombay harbour yesterday from the Persian Gulf.

THE Pioneer :—"In spite of all disclaimers of responsibility now to be heard from various quarters, we have to state that a correspondent of ours at Nowshera found it impossible on the 28th even to get forward a telegram. He writes :—'It is impossible to send you news by telegram, even of events that have taken place; so stringent are the orders. Only to-day I wanted to send you a telegram, but when presented I found it of no use.' It has been asserted at Lahore that the restrictions were only in force for two days at the beginning of the attack, to mask the Khyber advance. We leave the fact above recorded to speak for itself."

THE Pioneer says :—The labours of the Famine Commissioners were very nearly brought to an unexpected and untimely close during the tour in the Punjab. In the course of their railway journey to Gujranwallah, the distinguished travellers noticed that the heat was very great for the time of year. It rapidly increased. The horizon was searched for atmospheric phenomena which might account for the change of temperature. At last, the explanation was discovered, not in the heavens, but in the next truck. This contained bags of stores consigned to the seat of war, and had been set on fire, probably by a spark from the engine. Luckily the engine-driver's attention was successfully attracted and the train brought to a standstill, but if the signalling cord had been burned through before this was done, the flames would almost certainly have spread to the Famine Commissioners' carriage.

THE Calcutta correspondent of the Pioneer says :—Some ill-natured persons appear to have informed a certain Mrs. de Salis that ladies in India are sometimes dressed in antique fashions and sometimes even in bad taste, for a circular headed "Ladies' Commission Agency" has found its way here from England, in which Mrs. de Salis offers to dress ladies well and reasonably at the moderate charge of five per cent. on the price of the articles supplied :—

Mrs. de Salis, at the suggestion of many friends in India, and from leading articles in several weekly papers, has established an Agency for executing every kind of commission in India and the Colonies, thus enabling them to avoid troubling friends or sending direct to shopkeepers whose taste is not to be always relied on, and who are in the habit of sending goods of last year's fashion, or those they cannot otherwise dispose of, and at the same time charging exorbitant prices.

Mrs. de Salis adds that "as she moves in first-rate circles she is a competent judge in all matters of style, taste, and fashion," and she ends by suggesting "that photographs should be sent, or minute description given of height, figure, and colour of correspondents, and approximate age."

The Civil and Military Gazette :—The vicissitudes of fortune which seem to attend the life of an actor at home seem to be present with the children of the sock and buskin of the East. An English comedian once described his career as being "occasionally sunshine and champagne, often clouds and 'heavy wet'"—the drink of that name being understood by the latter designation. In India fate is as fickle towards Thespians. A few months ago a Parsee dramatic company was making apparently a fortune in Lahore, crowds going nightly to see their performances and paying very handsomely for seats. The company went on a starring tour in the Punjab and have met the common fate of unfortunate actors. The manager writes a long detail of the sorrows which he and his troupe encountered in their journeying through the land of the five rivers. In one district (to quote his own words) "I had to wade through the waters to the depth of 8 feet,"—no ordinary task for even an extraordinary tall man. The summary of his woes is heartrending. He writes; "Providence has aimed at me a dire stroke of fate, I live from hand to mouth, numbering my days by chewing grams or by swallowing dried morsels of bread, not to make mention of the inclemency of the weather. Starvation I badly feel and I am reduced to a skeleton with my nephew. When I remember my golden palmy days at Lahore my heart breaks, my limbs shudder, my senses go amiss. I may be dragged to a premature grave owing to starvation, and I conclude this with my best salaams."

THE Pioneer :—The war with Afghanistan now undertaken was absolutely necessary; the situation was one in which negotiation would have been entirely thrown away. The long mismanagement of our relations with Afghanistan had produced a state of feeling on the part of the Ameer which forbade the hope of a satisfactory settlement of those relations, when the Russians once got a footing in the country. The Viceroy was quite right in wishing to proceed to hostilities at once, after Sir Chamberlain had been turned back, without going through the purposeless formality of sending an ultimatum; and when the Home Government unwisely insisted on sending one, he was right again in making arrangements as to dates which hardly embraced the idea that the ultimatum could evoke a reply likely to modify the course of events. But it is one thing to recognize the perfect good sense of all Lord Lytton has done in this matter,—another to admire the present despatches, which will, we venture to say, be not the subject of unfriendly remarks, but of unfriendly remarks apparently so reasonable and just, that a considerable volume of wavering opinion will probably go over to the wrong side in consequence of them. If the letter, which had to be written to the Ameer to announce the despatch of the mission, had itself taken the tone of an ultimatum, which it really was, the reader would have felt that it hinged on to a mass of previous correspondence, and that it could only be criticised after studying the diplomatic intercourse of years. The ideas to be expressed to the Ameer was :—"Is it true you are intriguing with Russia? If so our patience is at an end. We hoped you might be gradually coming to see how unwisely and ungratefully you acted in repulsing the offers conveyed to you through Sir Lewis Pelly. We have let you alone that you might reconsider the position at leisure, but if you now choose to get up an alliance with Russia, further patience is no longer possible." With a despatch to that effect there would be no room to find fault. Merely to discuss it, critics must have gone into the diplomacy of the whole subject, and thorough treatment of this kind would have vindicated Lord Lytton's policy. Now the whole quarrel is made to seem to turn on quite recent incidents, and these are trivial, almost, compared with the magnitude of the reprisals and the rapidity with which war was resolved on.

Truth thinks there is something melancholy, ludicrous, and at the same time full of significance, in the tone the German press has adopted respecting Count Beust's appointment to the Austrian Embassy at Paris. It clearly enough shows that Austria has for the present got rid of the yoke under which she has laboured for the last twelve years. The relations between the two Courts have been more and more strained since the Congress, and this dismaying and astounding move must have proved a direful corroboration truly to the German Chancellor's misgivings. Count Beust is the indomitable, inveterate enemy of Prince Bismarck personally and of the present regime in Germany generally, and nothing could have been more distasteful to the Berlin Cabinet than his mission to Paris. Prince Bismarck's luck seems to have taken a very decided turn lately. Foreign affairs are "squally," and home matters very stormy, and likely to continue so.

Truth :—The invention of Mr. Edison, which is to separate the electric light, will not, I hear, be made public before he has perfected his system of marking on a meter the amount consumed.

Truth :—During his visitation, the Bishop of Peterborough adopted the northern and eastward positions indiscriminately, according to the usual custom of the respective churches. At Leicester he took occasion to remark that he considered it a point of little importance, inasmuch as both positions are legal, and expressed his regret that there should be such an inordinate amount of discussion respecting such trivialities. If the great body of the clergy were as hard-headed and practical as Dr. Magee, we should hear little more of clerical scandals and interminable and bitter disputes about puerilities.

ST. ANDREW'S DAY CHORAL FESTIVAL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—With reference to your humorous article which appears to-day on "St. Andrew's Day," in justice to the Revd. Chas Gilder will you permit me to state, that he had nothing whatever to do with getting up the Choral Festival Service at Christ Church, Byculla. He was asked by the Grand Lodge of Scottish Freemasonry, as their Chaplain, to preach on the occasion, which he kindly consented to do, and did preach an admirable sermon.—I remain, &c.

THE ITALIAN OPERA COMPANY.

THIS Company gave the second of their series of operas on Monday night at the Grant Road Theatre, the opera produced being Rossini's "Barber of Seville." There was a large audience present, the dress circle especially being well filled, H. E. Sir Richard Temple, being again present. The artistes performed their parts with great success, as was testified by frequent and loud applause on the part of the audience. The arduous rôle of Rossini was ably undertaken by Signora Coy, and the rendering of the part of Don Bartolo by Signor Cortesi; and that of Figaro, by Signor Bergamaschi, gained the entire approval of the audience. Among the pieces that we may specially mention as being warmly received were "Una Voce," sung by Signora Coy, and Langonetta, a Spanish song, by the same artiste.

To-night Bellini's Opera "La Sonnambula' will be performed.

RECONNAISSANCE OF THE PEIWAR PASS.—SKIRMISH WITH THE ENEMY.

WE published on Monday a telegram stating that General Roberts had reconnoitred the Peiwar Pass with part of his force, and found the enemy posted in strength, awaiting his advance; and that a skirmish ensued, in which one man on our side was killed, and Lieutenant Reid and nine men wounded. A contemporary's special correspondent gives the following details of this affair :—

PEIWAR, THROUGH THULL, Nov. 29.

GENERAL ROBERTS' division advanced yesterday, as I have already telegraphed, in two columns. The left column was commanded by Brigadier Cobbe, and the right by Brigadier Thelwell. The advance was covered by the 12th Begal Cavalry, who threw out videttes to examine the valley in front as well as the sides of the Hill.

Our scouts reported the country to be free as far as the Peiwar village, and they stated that three regiments of the enemy, with some guns, were retreating up the Peiwar Hill, and that they had experienced much great difficulty in carrying their guns with them, that they would most probably be compelled to abandon them during the retreat.

General Roberts, after carefully examining the spies who had come in from the front, determined by a flank movement to cut off the enemy's retreat altogether and bring them to bay. For this purpose he detached from the 1st Brigade, the 29th Punjab Infantry, the 5th Punjab Infantry and No. 1 Mountain Battery.

The 2nd Brigade reached the Peiwar ascent about 2 p.m., after being joined by the remainder of the force composing the 1st Brigade.

I, however, attached myself to the troops engaged in the flanking movement, and accompanied Col. Gordon and the 29th Punjab Infantry, whose duty it was to gain a hill to the west of the Peiwar Kotul, which commanded the route by which the enemy were said to be retreating. Our route, after crossing several wide and rocky dry water-courses, led through shrubberies of the prickly oak. The hills in front were clothed with dark pines, and their summits crowned with lines of the stately Deodars. This march was one long remembered in its stillness and its strange beauty. The picturesqueness of the converging valleys, with their far glimpses of green landscapes beyond; the sombre shadows that the tall mountain sides cast across the hollows beneath; the stern beights of the precipitous mountain cliffs over our heads that hardly touched us—all these things, with a curious feeling due probably to a momentary expectation of the enemy, gave to the whole surroundings a sublime and living interest which grew stronger with each succeeding respect.

The 5th Punjab Infantry under Major McQueen, led the advance of the flanking column. We were conducted by our guides up an exceedingly steep and high hill, but before we reached it, we had passed several Turi villages, all the houses of which, without exception, were built of wood. We, also, before reaching the summit, crossed several streams of water, which was everywhere most plentiful. This was extremely fortunate, for it enabled the troops, after their march of fifteen miles, to quench their thirst and to refill their waterflasks. The ascent of the hill was in itself most difficult. Colonel Gordon had proceeded in front, and I now found myself on the verge like. I passed the 5th Punjab Infantry. The men were struggling up the hill side splendidly, and some of the men of the regiment gave me a drink of very welcome water from their flasks. Our thirst in this tough climb under a hot sun was simply intense.

On gaining the top of the hill we could that see fighting was going on on the road leading up to the Peywar Kothul; and the spies told us that the Turis were engaging the Afghans. We could see a number of men with a mule battery hurrying rapidly up the Pass, and curiously enough they carried two flags—one red and one white. The distance was about 2,000 yards. The 5th's ball" opened with a few shots at them. Hitherto, the hills commanding the route by which we came had been lined by Turis, who advanced with us, but at a considerable distance. They were unarmed, and as they were presumed to be friendly they were not fired at, although at one time when their intentions were uncertain, it was half determined to shell them.

Unfortunately our guide had led us up to a hill a little too much to the south. Had we gone further north, we would have taken up a position on a higher hill favourable in our subsequent fighting with the enemy around the Peiwar Kothul. The 5th Punjaub Infantry and the mule battery then descended the hill. Colonel Gordon took the 29th by a route higher up, so as to gain a hill to the west of the Peiwar Kothul.

I went with the 5th Punjab Infantry and the mule battery. At the bottom of the hill we reached Turi village, and alongside that we found a large stream of water rushing out of a huge wooden spout. The water was deliciously cool. Major McQueen took up an excellent position on a spur opposite the enemy's position, with a portion of the 5th Punjab Infantry and two mountain guns. On the other hand, to the north-west; and now our fighting began. It was difficult to strain our men.

The enemy fired with the utmost rapidity and precision, and had not our troops been well under cover we must have suffered severely. We were divided in opinion as to whether they were armed with breech or muzzle loaders. I could see what I thought were ramrods flashing in the sun. These may have been cleaning rods with which they were pushing cartridges out of the breechloaders. Anyhow, their fire was wonderfully quick.

Meanwhile the 2nd Brigade and portions of the 1st Brigade with General Roberts and his staff had forced their way up the steep road on the very mouth of the pass. I now joined the General and his staff on a plateau, a little below the Peiwar Kothul. The General dismounted and went around examining the positions of the 29th and the 5th Punjaub Infantry. I was sitting close to Brigadier-General Cobbe, Major Collet and other officers, and we were just speculating as to how much farther the enemy would throw a shell in among us; but we had scarcely spoken, when a shell came shrieking over our heads, and rushed in amongst the horses lower down. We, too, followed a wholesome example, and went a little further down to take shelter behind a hill. In the meantime the enemy kept throwing shells and round-shot amongst our troops.

General Cobbe, some officers, and myself then ascended a hillock, from which, with telescopes, we could examine the enemy's battery. The Horse Artillery now began to reply from the open ground just below us, but they were not allowed to remain long. After some good shooting, they were ordered to limber up their guns and go lower down. The enemy's practice was admirable. Not only did they find the ranges of our guns at will, but their shells burst capitally.

The enemy's position had now been well ascertained, and it was determined to withdraw the 5th and 29th Punjab Infantry, and let the enemy boldly advance; and the 5th, from the commanding position they held behind some high rocks, fired into them with apparently deadly effect. At any rate it gave a dead check to any further advance. The 5th Goorkhas were now extended to cover the retirement of our men from the positions they had so gallantly held. The 2nd Punjab Infantry and the 72nd Highlanders were also thrown out in support. Our troops were greatly exhausted. They had had no food all day; but fortunately water had been plentiful.

Captain Reid, of the 29th, has been severely wounded in the back. One of our men has been killed, and eleven wounded. The loss of the enemy is not known, but is supposed to be heavy. We were all under fire yesterday, and the bursting of the shells created an excitement not unmixed with some amusing incidents after once the first imminent danger was passed. I had two rather narrow escapes; my red kummerbund, for which I got soundly rated, was supposed to have attracted the enemy's fire.

The enemy's position is very strong, and is being reconnoitred to-day. A determined advance will probably be made to-morrow.

PEIWAR CAMP THROUGH THULL, Nov. 29.

Reconnoitering parties have been out all day. The information they bring is generally this, that there is no route practicable for artillery, by which the positions on and near the Peiwar Kheth can be turned. There are, however, paths practicable for infantry and mountain guns.

The position the enemy have taken up is, as telegraphed you this morning, a very strong one, and it is of the utmost importance that its strength has been ascertained. To-morrow will be devoted to reconnoitering, and by the day after, the troops will have been refreshed and strengthened by rest, and supplies will be up. The information we have been receiving from the tribes has not been very trustworthy, and there are some doubts as to their intentions.

The 29th appear to have been misled by the information they received from their guides. During the day the heavy guns of the enemy were playing occasionally, apparently with a view to ascertain the range of the position we are most likely to occupy. Our tents have been pitched a little further out of range, and strong picquets are, of course, thrown out in commanding positions near.

The temperature in the day is very pleasant; the thermometer does not rise above 71 degs. At night the water in our tents is frozen. The impression is, that the enemy, yesterday, were armed with muzzle-loading Enfield rifles. They were most enthusiastic, and their cheering could be heard a long way down the valley. Although they have lighted large camp fires, they appear to have adopted the precaution of not sleeping around them. The health of the troops is excellent. Wood and good water are abundant. The remainder of the Horse Artillery have been sent for from Thull.

INDIAN NEWS-LETTERS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

PANGIM, Nov. 29.

I STARTED on Wednesday morning last from the Carnac Bunder by the ferry boat known as Shepherd's steamer Nagotna. She is a flat boat, and manned by Mussalman officers and crew. She is rather slow, but fortunately the sea has been calm. The voyage to Goa from Bombay has been so often described by several travellers before, that I need not attempt to give my experiences. I cannot, however, omit to mention the train of reflection I fell into on beholding the ruins of Chawl. On entering the port a fortress stands on an elevated hillock to the right, and a rampart enclosing the village of Chawl is to be seen to the left. A portion of a ruined church shoots out above the thickly planted cocoanut trees, beneath which the huts of the fishermen and other population are concealed. These ruins, which once must have formed a magnificent spectacle while the Portuguese nation was at the height of its glory, afford a sad spectacle to any reflecting mind, how power and grandeur disappear, leaving behind vestiges which only serve to denote a mournful contrast between the two ages. The why and the wherefore that it should be so have furnished fruitful subjects of controversy. The sight of the ruins stirred my imagination, and I thought how profound would be the sorrow of the Portuguese heroes of former times if they could revisit these scenes and witness the dissolution into which their conquests have fallen. And what would St. Francis Xavier, who had given his life to Christianize India, say if he could return to Chawl and other coast villages and observe the Christian converts following a hybrid religion, which is a mixture of Christianity and Hinduism! That a lapse of over three centuries has not been enough to instil pure Catholic doctrines into pagan converts, who repeat Christian prayers in a church and perform pooja to Hindoo gods at home, speaks unfavourably of the zeal and spirit with which those who profess to follow in the footsteps of the Apostle of India have been performing their priestly duties. But I find myself digressing.

The trip has been rather tedious, for the steamer touched at nearly a dozen ports, where passengers were landed and received; these operations were, however, performed expeditiously without causing any unnecessary delay. I wish I could speak favourably of those in charge of the steamer. Less harshness in their bearing towards the passengers would be a decided improvement, and tend to promote the interest of the owners and good feeling among the passengers. The tediousness of the voyage, however, was relieved by the charming scenery which meet the eye all along the coast.

The steamer anchored in the Mandovy (Pangim) river at 6 p. m. yesterday. I may mention for the information of passengers to Goa, that they are not detained at the Custom House at whatever hour of the day or night they may arrive.

AHMEDABAD, Nov. 30.

THE cold weather appears to be setting in at last, for though the days are warm, the mornings and evenings are delightfully cool and the nights absolutely cold. I am sorry to say that the fever which has been so prevalent this season has not yet disappeared; few here have escaped an attack of it, and among the natives it has in many cases been fatal. However, we have every reason to hope that we shall get rid of it, now that the cold weather is setting in.

I am glad to say that a new scheme for supplying water to this city has been submitted to Government. From what I hear of it the sooner it is carried into operation the better. The manner in which water is at present supplied here is a disgrace to the capital of Guzerat, while on the plea of there not being any to spare, the Municipality has refused to allow water to Government buildings, where there is a daily attendance of over a hundred persons, though within half a dozen yards of such establishments is being wasted every evening over our pet white elephant, the Karang Garden.

The Rev. A. C. Grieve, of the Free Church, has been here superintending the examination of the Matriculation candidates, and judging from what I have heard from them, I do not think that they would give the same cause for complaint as it has done for some years past. Those who have had the drawing up of this year's paper have apparently studied to make it as fair as possible and to avoid catch questions, which are really no test of knowledge. However, the same cannot be said to apply to the Guzerati paper; the piece given for translating into English is most difficult one and full of metaphor and could only be translated into good English by one who was a thorough master of that language. During his stay here Mr. Grieve preached twice in the hall of the Irish Presbyterian Institution, being on both occasions a large and attentive native audience.

Writing on educational matters, reminds me that the Deputy Educational Inspector of the Kaira district is at present in considerable hot water, having been suspended pending enquiries into an overwhelming number of fatalities among children in the new road leading to Kalalan from Nadiad, the Bhil Reservoir, the cost to be debited to the Toolsee Loan.

A letter was received from Messrs. Vurjeewandas Madhowdas and Hurkisandas Narotamdas, requesting to be paid at the rate of Rs. 12 per square yard for their ground at Cowasjee Patel Tank Road taken up for road improvement. The letter stated that the rate, viz. Rs. 7 per square yard sanctioned by the Council on the 24th of September was much below the present value of the ground in that locality. The application, upon reconsideration of the matter, was granted.

The Council decided to recommend the Corporation to sanction an exchange of land by which Mr. Nagoo Seyajee gives up 126·06 square yards of ground in two pieces of Municipal ground measuring 48·61 by which arrangement the public get a passage from Grant road to Falkland road.

Upon the recommendation of the Commissioner the Council accepted the tenders of Messrs. Hiptoola Shaik Adam and Co., for the supply of petty stores and hardware to the Municipality at Rs. 13,314 and Rs. 11,845 respectively.

THE TOWN DUTIES QUESTION.

The next business on the agenda was to receive the minutes of the Sub-Committee appointed to investigate and report generally on the subject of the collection of Town Duties, but the Chairman said the Committee had not completed their enquiries, but would probably meet to-day (to-day) as the Chairman of the Chamber of Commerce (Mr. M. Mowat) wished to give evidence before them.

THE TOOLSEE WATER WORKS.

A progress report for the month of November was received from the Executive Engineer, in which it was stated that owing to the difficulty which the contractors experienced in getting labours to remain at Vehar during the months of October, November and December and to the general unhealthiness of the place the rate of progress of the Vehar outlet works had not been satisfactory. But efforts were being made to renew the works with vigour. The tank at Powai from which the portion of tunnel where a seam of moorum was met was commenced in the first week of October, and up to date a length of nearly 45 feet has been completed. The shaft at the site of the tower which became filled with water during the monsoon, was being pumped out by the steam pump and the water had been reduced in level to nearly the bottom of the shaft, but in consequence of the level of the lake being higher than during this season last year, heavy leaks had shown themselves in the sides of the shaft on the face of the Lake, and unless these could be reduced by puddling the other side extra pumping power would be found to be necessary to keep the water down, so as to enable the contractors to proceed with the tower work and lengthen the puddling was being carried out by the Inspector Mr. Watson, and there was little doubt that the result would be successful, but in any case it would be necessary to utilize all the land power and leaks had to be kept under the excavation of the Tunnel had been completed for 340 feet, leaving 335 still to be worked out. The report was ordered to be printed as usual.

(FROM A CORRESPONDENT.)

RAJKOTE, Nov. 24.

THE present ministerial advisers of H. H. the Jam, since entering office, have been the subject matter of vague criminatory diatribes by certain vernacular prints. Though not obviously actuated by sinister motives, yet these prints cannot be held blameless in publicly countenancing the persistent attacks of a well-known ex-barbarse, whose unscrupulousness led to his downfall and banishment from H. H. the Jam's territory. The present responsible advisers of H. H. the Jam have not only been charged with hypothecated debts incurred by their predecessors in office, but also with capriciously squandering the resources of the State. So far, however, from there being any grounds for these charges, H. H.'s principal Dewan and colleagues have inherited this burden of debt. It is a notorious fact, that when Mr. N. W. Kharkur succeeded Poput Veljee as H. H.'s kharbaree in 1876, he not only took office with an empty treasury but found the State encumbered with the pecuniary liabilities aforestating, with interest, koreas 42,18,147, or Rs. 12,00,000 and odd, chiefly incurred by Prince Kalobs, the expatriated heir presumptive. Moreover, the revenue accounts of the State were not only in almost inextricable confusion, but also in arrears for years past; in fact, the whole system of supervision and management was discovered to be very defective. By dint of economy and reduction in miscellaneous items of expence, and traditional dustooree, the public debt at the close of the first year's administration was —less koreas 24,02,572—koreas 18,15,575, or Rs. 5,18,734. During the year 1877, in order to meet ordinary current expenses and extraordinary ones consequent on H. H. the Jam's visit to Delhi and back, a further debt of koreas 14,89,250 had to be incurred, which plus last balance and minus koreas 5,62,468 liquidated, the State liabilities at the end of the second financial year amounted to koreas 27,42,357 or Rs. 7,83,530. The year 1877 turned out to be a calamitous year, owing to the very scant rainfall. In order to save human life during the famine which followed large relief works had to be opened, grain imported to feed on an average upwards of 10,000 persons daily for some months, remissions of revenue and advances to cultivators, the opening of new wells and repairs to old ones, the State lose sustained by the State by a very indifferent harvest, plus the ordinary current expenses, were adverse circumstances trebled that public debt during the year to koreas 68 67,367, or Rs. 1,962,102. However, H. H.'s minister and financier showed himself equal to the situation. In overhauling the budget for the year 1877-78 a very large saving was effected without materially trenching on the well-being of the State, aggregating (inclusive of saving affected by Prince Kaloba's deportation) koreas 28,77,750, or Rs. 8,22,214. Simultaneously the changes and modifications in the collection of the revenue and survey and assessment of land was reciprocally approved as mutually beneficial to the ryot and the State. Under previous administrations the tillers of the soil, finding themselves to be mere tenants-at-will, removable from hereditary lands at the caprice of the vihivatdar or village patel, naturally took no interest in the improvement of their holdings. Moreover, if a cultivator wished to sink a well for irrigation purposes, or to plant a few trees, the sanction of the village potentate, supplemented by "palm grease," was the only way to success. In some districts whole villages were exempted from taxes, while in others the cesses were too grievous to be borne. Under present arrangements such anomalies will be superseded by a methodical uniformity in the collection of the land revenue, and such customs, and a general equalization of taxes. The survey and permanent assessment of land, with a guarantee that so long as the State dues are regularly paid, the rights of the cultivator will be scrupulously respected, are already bearing good fruit. The ryots heretofore tantalized by promises made to the ear and broke to the hope, consequently, in order to remove such misgivings and to encourage an interest in their holdings, and to dig wells and plant trees, pecuniary aid is rendered, repayable according to means. Another step in the right direction is an increase in the miserable pay of all officials, from the headman of the village down to the village peuada or puggee, as a check to bribery and corruption. The formation of large lakes for the storage of water will enable the State to utilize thousands of acres of fallow land by irrigational cultivation, as well as to supply potable waters to contiguous villages. As to H. H. the Jam personally, he is a shrewd and intelligent chief. In his intercourse with European and native gentlemen, who temporarily put up in his capital, he is frank, courteous, and hospitable. H. H. is an attentive observer of passing political events, and as a friendly ally evinces a keen and lively interest in the success of the British Government in its present complications with the Amir of Kabul. In order to keep himself well-informed in this matter, the telegrams and newsletters in the Bombay dailies may be said to be H. H.'s principal literary pabulum.

TO LADIES.

MRS. MEDLEY begs to return her sincere thanks to the Ladies of Bombay and Out-stations for their kind support accorded to her during the time she has been in business in Bombay; the encouragement she has received has induced her to increase her stock, so as to meet the requirements of her Lady customers, and she trusts by strict attention to all orders entrusted to her to still merit the patronage already extended to her.

MRS. Medley takes this opportunity of informing her customers that she has just unpacked a consignment of new goods from Paris and London, consisting of Hats, Bonnets, Flowers, Feathers, French Boots, Ladies' Leather Belts. Ball Dresses, Mitts, Dress Holders, Fan Girdles, etc., etc.

Mrs. M. respectfully invites her Lady customers to inspect her New Stock of French Cambric Prints warranted fast colors.

BILLIARD TABLES.

THE undoubted and established superiority of C. L. & Co.'s Billiard Tables is amply proved by the constant and increasing demand for them, showing that they are really the only tables now appreciated in India. This success is due to the steadfast efforts C. L. & Co. have always exerted to supply their constituents with really trustworthy and reliable articles at as moderate a price as is compatible with good workmanship and material. The generous and liberal support extended to C. L. & Co. for upwards of half a century, is sufficient proof that their endeavours to render satisfaction have been appreciated by a critical and discerning public.

While the superiority of C. L. & Co.'s Billiard Tables has been universally admitted in India, yet the difficulties and risks of transport have hitherto prevented their friends in Bombay from largely availing themselves of the undoubted advantages offered by C. L. & Co.

Now, however, C. L. & Co. beg to intimate to their patrons in the Western Presidency, that they have made arrangements which will enable them to offer their Billiard Tables at the same prices in Bombay as in Calcutta. A Branch Agency, under the management of Messrs. SOUNDY & Co., has been established at No. 22, Hampart Row, where Billiard Tables of C. Lazarus & Co.'s manufacture are arranged for sale; and while thanking their constituents for the patronage hitherto extended to their Firm, C. L. & Co. venture to express a hope that, with the increased facilities now offered, their manufactures will be as well known in Bombay as they are already in other parts of India.

BILLIARD CUSHIONS.

C. Lazarus & Co. always keep on hand a large stock of their new and improved COMBINATION EXPRESS Billiard Cushions which can be fitted to any table, the exact length and breadth of the slate-bed being the only information required.

Old Billiard Cushions, if the woodwork is in good condition, can be renewed on the new COMBINATION EXPRESS principle, thereby making an old table as good as new.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

C. Lazarus & Co. guarantee the SAFE ARRIVAL of their Billiard Tables at any Station in India. Should any breakage occur in transit, C. L. & Co. agree to make good the loss without further charge.

BILLIARD LAMPS.

The six-light telescopic lamp, on the duplex principle, to burn kerosine oil, as adapted by C. L. & Co., is the best Billiard lamp ever introduced.

C. L. & Co. have always on hand a large assortment of Billiard, Pool and Pyramid Balls, in Ivory or "Patent Celluloid," Billiard Cloth, of the finest quality only, Cues, Tips, Chalks, Cement and every requisite for the Billiard Room.

GRIFFITH'S NEW ZINC WHITE PAINT

possesses the following advantages over White Lead and Oxide Zinc:—

Covers 100 per cent. more than Oxide Znc.
Do. 25 do. do. White Lead.
It retains its whiteness under all conditions.
Will stand 500 degrees of heat.
Will never blister.
Is non-poisonous. Has no smell.
Has no chemical action upon metals.

This substitute for White Lead received the highest praise at meetings of Society of Arts, London; and Social Science Congress; is used by English and German Governments.

The following are a few extracts from numerous Reports already received:—

PROFESSOR PHIPSON says: "It is one of the most ingenious useful discoveries of modern times."

PROFESSOR BARFF, M.A., Lecturer on Paints and Colours to Society of Arts, Chemist to Royal Academy, &c.—"Has great body, covers well, absolutely resists the action of foul air, a red heat will not permanently alter its appearance, will always retain itsopacity."

JOHNSON & SONS, Assayers to Bank of England, H. M. Mint, Council o India, &c., &c.—"Much more stable than White Lead."

LUTSCHAUNIG & Co., Liverpool Assay Office.—"Body dense and opaque, covers better than White Lead, Sulphuretted Hydrogen has no effect upon it, does not blister, absolutely neutral towards Iron, &c., will entirely supersede White Lead."

T. A. BRITTON, late Surveyor to the Metropolitan Board of Works.—"Superior to any other similar substance I have ever met with—is a pure white, retains its opacity, is not affected by foul air, has a good body."

J. H. & S. JOHNSON, Oil and Paint Merchants, Liverpool.—"Has the body of Lead, but does not tarnish like it."

F. A. BARROW, White Lead Merchant, 191, Hope-street, Glasgow.—"Covers better and a greater surface, and in colour is superior to White Lead."

C. H. TOZER, Practical Decorator, &c., 56, Treherne-road, London.—"The best thing that a beel t brought under my notice."

G. W. BREWER, Decorator, 54, Crawshay-road, London.—"A beautiful White, far superior to Wqu Lead. Will mix with colours White Lead destroys."

W. MALE, Painter, Oxton.—"Does not blister with a degree of heat that destroys Lead."
